

PUZZLE OF THE MONTH, AUGUST 2011

"O beautiful, for spacious skies, for amber waves of grain..."

The place where these words were inspired is where we start our tour. From this easternmost fourteener, travel to the westernmost. It is named for a Midwestern senator who sponsored an organic act. Once you reach the land established, find its capital, but don't stay long, you're off to some islands that share the name. Here, there was a war that began and ended with only one casualty. The man who suffered the loss shares his last name with a TV family. The woman who first regularly "played" the daughter on that show provided her singing talents to a musical film. The Academy Award winning writer of the lyrics in that film is known for an expansive rock song, which contains a quote from the poem quoted above.

What is the name of that song?
